HBC & Historic Hilton Village... Our Jerusalem!

When Jesus gave us the great commission of going into all the world, he intentionally instructed his disciples to begin in their own backyard ... Jerusalem. The city was both historic and had a dignity and character that set it apart from the villages and towns which surrounded it.

I believe we are well served to remember that, in many ways, the same applies to our beloved Hilton Village. It is both unique and has a character and make-up that sets it apart from the surrounding areas.

Hilton Village was the very first of some 100 federally financed housing projects during World War I. Today, its architecture remains much as it did when it was first planned and built in 1918-19. On the east bank of the James River about three miles north of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., the village is patterned after principles and designs of the late-19th century Garden City movement begun in the United Kingdom by Sir Ebenezer Howard. The city established a historic overlay district for the village in 1969, the same year the neighborhood was placed on the National Register of Historic Places.

On a much smaller perspective of course, the village is a microcosm of the marketplace in days gone by. The village is compact with amenities and commercial areas within easy walking or bicycling distance of the homes. A streetcar originally transported workers between the neighborhood and the shipyards.

In 1969, the Hilton neighborhood was placed on the National Register of Historic Places. In 1972, Newport News established an architectural review board to ensure the village's character remained intact.

The village was also unique in at least one other distinctive way. When it was laid out, there were four designated land grants specifically set aside to become locations for future places of worship. The four churches which obtained and occupied those land grants remain vibrant today. They include: Hilton Baptist, First United Methodist, Hilton Presbyterian and St. Andrew's Episcopal churches.

Four unique congregations which represent the diversity of expression of the one true Christian faith. Their worship services range from the highly liturgical and formal expression of Episcopal worship to the more intimate and informal format of our Baptist worship experience. Four distinctive and diverse expressions, all equally focused upon the true worship of the one Lord and Savior of the world, Jesus Christ!

What a joy it is to celebrate our 100th Anniversary together!

On the grace journey together with you, Lynwood

“Upside Down”

“These who have turned the world upside down have come here too. Jason has harbored them, and these are all acting contrary to the decrees of Caesar, saying there is another king, Jesus.”

– Acts 17:6-7.

Some today are telling us that the most important thing the church should be focusing on is global warming.

That is the priority we are to have, they say.

But there is another kind of warming the church should focus on preventing. And that is people spending eternity separated from God in hell.

The church of the first century made its impact on the world through prayer and through preaching. It was said of the early church that they turned the world upside down. And that, by the way, was offered as a criticism, not as a compliment.

May God give us more "criticisms" like this, because it seems today the opposite is happening in the church. We have double standards and moral compromise and little to no power.

Organized Christianity which fails to make a disturbance is dead!

What concerns me is that we are not making a disturbance anymore. We are so worried about fitting in.

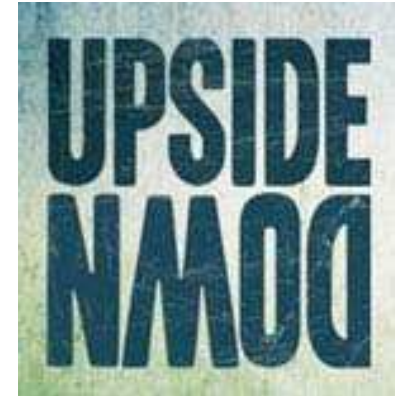

We are so worried about relating. We are so worried about being cool that we have forgotten what it is to make a stand for what is true.

My fear is that instead of the church turning the world upside down, the world is turning the church upside down.

We are not going to move this world by criticism of it nor conformity to it, but by the combustion within it of lives ignited by the Spirit of God!

That is why we need to get back to what the early church experienced as given on the day of Pentecost – because they turned their world upside down.

And in this crazy, topsy-turvy world where wrong is right and right is wrong, we need to do the same.

The Last Impression

A minister, a Boy Scout, and a computer expert were the only passengers on a small plane. The pilot came back to the cabin and said that the plane was going down and unfortunately there were only 3 parachutes on board for the 4 of them. He added, "Since I am the pilot and have 3 children and a wife to support I am taking one of them" and then he jumped.

The Computer Wiz said next, "I should have one of the parachutes because I am the smartest man in the world and everyone needs me" so he took one and jumped.

The minister turned to the Boy Scout and with a sad smile said, "You are young and have your whole life ahead of you, I have lived a longer and a rich life, so you take the remaining parachute and I'll go down with the plane."

The Boy Scout however responded, "relax, Reverend, the smartest man in the world just picked up my knapsack and jumped out... we each have a parachute left!"

Attitude Check

The 92-year-old, petite, well-poised and proud lady, who is fully dressed each morning by eight o'clock, with her hair fashionably coifed and makeup perfectly applied, even though she is legally blind, moved to a nursing home today. Her husband of 70 years recently passed away, making the move necessary.

After many hours of waiting patiently in the lobby of the nursing home, she smiled sweetly when told her room was ready. As she maneuvered her walker to the elevator, I provided a visual description of her tiny room, including the eyelet sheets that had been hung on her window. "I love it," she stated with the enthusiasm of an eight-year-old having just been presented with a new puppy.

"Mrs. Jones, you haven't seen the room... just wait."

"That doesn't have anything to do with it," she replied. "Happiness is something you decide on ahead of time. Whether I like my room or not doesn't depend on how the furniture is arranged... it's how I arrange my mind. I already decided to love it. Each day is a gift, and as long as my eyes open, I'll focus on the new day and the promise of happiness it holds!"

Giving Back To God

The purpose of tithing is to teach us to always put God first in our lives. God doesn't need our money. He wants what it represents: our gratitude, our priorities and our faith. Look at these verses in Proverbs 3. Do you see where it says, 'Honor the Lord by giving him the leftovers of all your income'. Now, you can see, that's NOT what it says at all.

It says, "Honor the Lord with your possessions and with the first produce of your entire harvest ..". We give to God first, before anyone else, right off the top of our income. And here is the promise, "Then your barns will be completely filled, and your vats will overflow with new wine".

As committed believers, we are called to give the first 10% to God. If we're going to be in debt, we will be in debt to other people, but should not be in debt to God. You and I are called to give back to God in gratitude, but also as a demonstration of our priorities. And, it is a demonstration of our faith in his promises.

In Malachi 3:10, God says, "Bring all the tithes into the storehouse ...". That means the place where you worship. Then God says, "Put me to the test!" In a sense, "Test me and see how I will bless you for your obedience". God says he will provide all that you need. He doesn't say he'll provide all that we greed, but all that we need.
